

Get rid of the junk — call Larson's Trucking, 205-3888

Does your home or business have a junk problem? Is your space cluttered with things you should throw away, but don't have the time to clean up or don't feel like doing yourself? Does your back yard look like a small bomb went off?

If you answered yes to any of these questions, or feel as though your life could simply use some reorganizing, Larson's Trucking is the company you need to call to solve these problems.

Owned and operated by Lauri Shakra, Larson's Trucking specializes in removing the junk and clutter that has taken over your precious space. From refrigerators to small items, demolition debris from home repairs or small construction sites and anything in between, they are the business to call.

In business for three years, Larson's Trucking (named after Lauri's son), will clean out anything. Whether it's your basement, backyard, apartment, or your business, Larson's Trucking will get in there and bring back the organization you once had and sorely need.

Lauri has been in the business of junk removal for six years, getting her start at the Kennebunk Transfer Station and Recycling Center where she became familiar with the process of junk removal, proper disposal of hazardous waste and recycling the junk other people were throwing away.

Larson's Trucking came about as a result of Lauri's love to clean up. As simple as it sounds, Lauri loves to clean up other people's junk, allowing them to reclaim the space that has been taken over by miscellaneous clutter which in turn allows a person to work and live more efficiently.

Not your typical junk removal company, Lauri takes pride in the fact that when Larson's Trucking reports to a job, their demeanor is professional and trustworthy. They look like people you want to welcome into your home to clean up and after they've left, you'll be glad they did.

With a service area that ranges from southern York County to southern Cumberland County, Lauri's business is centrally located in Kennebunkport. As a result, Lauri and her crew will be at your job site, often within 24 hours. If you've dealt with other junk removal companies, you may find her punctuality a welcome change.

LAURIE SHAKRA owns and operates Larson's Trucking. She and her crew can clean up the clutter at a price that will save you money. Call 205-3888.

Regardless of the size of your junk removal job, Larson's Trucking has the ability to get the job done in a timely manner.

Larson's Trucking doesn't just remove your unwanted items, they take the time to separate, recycle and properly handle to local town standards, which is different for every town.

Lauri also takes the time to educate the home or business owner on recycling, which will help the customer stay organized and prevent junk build up in the future.

Larson's Trucking doesn't just want to be your one-time junk remover; they want to be your long-term remover as well. So, if you're the type of person who does regular clean outs each year, Larson's is the company you want to start a relationship with.

Larson's Trucking can help with some forms of hazardous waste. In addition, Lauri will advise customer as of local Hazardous Waste Disposal Days.

So, if junk is taking over life, or at least your space, call Larson's Trucking at 205-3888, ask for Lauri and get back that extra space you once had.